I live in south dakota.... I was working with a senator here to expose this..... She was excited initially to see my information..... Then she finally asked , where is all of this originating from in south dakota..... I let her know south dakota has made a deal with north dakota..... north dakota is where the Weather manipulation business is located..... Once I told her all this.... She ghosted me..... She said she was going to talk to the sheriff and draft another bill..... But everything went totally silent..... Dan is right..... The Dakota's want nothing to do with truth..... Not on this subject.....

It hit 87F in Monterey 4 days ago followed by a nighttime low of 55, the next day high was 67. Everyone was talking about it. The people I talked to said they felt lethargic. If you're feeling physically taxed you need to monitor the temps. It will blow you away. There are things to do that will build up your defenses. and whole food diet are must. If you can avoid processed foods and get as much exercise as you can it will protect you. These are our defenses against the bipolar temperature fluctuations caused by geoengineering.

They are trying to push hunger into the winter months while they play havoc with the weather. I predict an early warming before spring that will cause a premature flowering. Then a massive cold front that will wipe out next seasons production. Those with a greenhouse may get by
